The Style Review of 1913 Magnificent but Practical Spectacle Brooklyn's Surpassing Fashion

Show IT SEEMED TO US AS IF EVERY ONE in Brooklyn and for one hundred miles around tried to see the STYLE REVIEW OF 1913 yesterday in our second floor apparel stores. The fact that it took one of the costumed women 15 minutes to walk the length of the promenade gives some idea of the extent of the area covered by the fashion parade. Yet every foot of the way was thronged with sightseers and admiring spectators. We would earnestly advise seeing the morning parade—and take position in the Livingston street side of the store, where there is more room.

It is a superb show, a wonderfully fascinating one, but the most interesting part of it is that these gowns, suits, wraps, hats and other apparel, original models or direct copies of the leading designers of Paris, London, Berlin and Trouville-Deauville, are at REASON-ABLE PRICES. Ask for the prices and compare them with those of Manhattan store-particularly with stores that show such perfect
